

SFB 829 Fellowships for MD Students

The SFB829 is offering the following fellowships for outstanding MD candidates in order to perform a research project in one of the SFB 829 labs (Molecular mechanisms regulating skin homeostasis). Information regarding the labs can be found on our webpage (<http://sfb829.uni-koeln.de/home/sfb829/>).

1. MD doctoral thesis fellowships (6 months)

Target group: Undergraduate research scholars (f/m) (medical students interested in research-oriented doctoral thesis)

Aim: "Conduct a research project in one of our SFB laboratories!"

Salary: 735 € + 103 € (for additional costs) / month

2. Student fellowships (6 weeks)

Target group: Undergraduate research scholars (f/m) (medical students), first and second year students

Aim: "Experience bench research!"

Salary: up to 750 € / 6 weeks

More information regarding application can be found under <http://sfb829.uni-koeln.de/integrated-research-training-group-molecular-mechanisms-regulating-skin-homeostasisfellowships/>

The application deadline is August 1st 2019 but applications will be considered and evaluated upon arrival.