Dear Colleagues,

Parkinson disease, neuronal degeneration, mitochondria, voltage gated calcium channels plus a collaboration between MedFak and MatNat. What else would one like to ask for?

Prof. Dr. Peter Kloppenburg will critically discuss the development of novel translational concepts in his talk “Parkinson Disease – Do voltage gated calcium channels contribute?” Yes, not every mechanism in rodents stands the test in the clinic. But maybe some?

I am sure, this presentation will spark a wonderful debate, not only because we are somewhat deprived of scientific discussions these days.

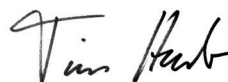

Be cordially invited to this special online location at **https://global.gotomeeting.com/join/531062885**

To stick to our tradition of pretzels and wine, the first 10 subscribers will get the wine delivered to your office or home (please let us know, if you would like to receive wine, and send us your preferred delivery address)!

As usually, please register early:
